

Student protection plan

Provider's name: Brunel University London

Provider's UKPRN: 10000961

However, if a course is viewed as non-viable then the measures listed below will be implemented.

- The University stops teaching a specific subject area: the residual risk and likelihood is very low and as above, will only be enacted if the numbers recruited to a whole subject area are very low, and forecasted to remain low for the foreseeable future, thus indicating a diminishing demand. Alternatively, in the event of a re-focusing of the institutional disciplinary breadth or a change to the income and cost structure of a subject area, the University may determine to stop teaching a subject area. The risk measures in place to ensure this is monitored and mitigated against are primarily: trend analysis, demand for qualifications by both students and employers, technological advancements which determines that a particular field or area of expertise is changing, and the use of a financial resourcing model to ensure viability at a College level. This allows the College to make decisions of cross subsidy or support and ensures autonomy in supporting high cost areas. In addition, many of our subjects have a strong and services on campus to improve and enhance the student experience. In addition, the University monitors the suitability of space as one of the University KPI's.

- Short term impacts on the University Estate: incidents such as Financial Policy sections 5 and 6 (Student Financial Policy 2019/0), and in particular where any student has a disability, or requires additional assistance and support.

- In the event of a University Support Service or activity be significantly temporarily disrupted or displaced; in the main, alternative facilities, services and staff (for example agency staff) would be provided. In particular where any student has a disability, or requires additional assistance and support, an agreed adjusted measures and support package would be put in place.
- We will consider with the students any personal impact that they consider the event has had on them; this will be done via the University Programme Suspension and Withdrawal Policy which sets out the steps that will be followed in the event that a programme is to be suspended or withdrawn, and includes the formation of a Continuity Group to oversee the arrangements.
